Also attending was Steve Cantor of Cantor & Webb, Miami; Simon Beck, Baker & McKenzie, Miami and the international super star Joe Field, from Withers Bergman in New York.

Financial 'A' listers included much revered Patricia Angus, Managing Director at Shelterwood Financial Services who works with a handful of super rich families from New York.

Pamela Woodburn, Managing Director of RBC, San Francisco and Karen Troy, Director of Global Solutions, New York attended and dressed in movie star style. Both work for RBC, a global banking organisation that specialises in serving wealthy clients in protecting and investing substantial assets. Michael Moodie, President and Director of Global Private Banking at RBC also attended and behaved like a perfect gentleman even when Marilyn Monroe snuggled up to him on more than one occasion.

As well as the Citywealth top 100 list attendees receiving their crystal engraved trophies for being voted best in industry, Citywealth also announced select Magic Circle Awards on the night. Awarded by state, they were either for specific 'achievement' or for 'personality'. The personality awards are for professional advisers with a gentle approach to client care. One that puts the client first; treating them as a friend and always adding value with ideas and innovation.

After a sumptuous dinner and the Magic Circle Awards were over, a Vegas style show hit the stage to entertain the crowd. Some disco dancing was spotted as under table

The Citywealth London Zoo event in 2006

The Citywealth Americas event saw the birth of a unique Oscars-style event to join the super rich with global private wealth managers and advisers in an exciting, lifestyle format. An extraordinary evening was put on at the Hotel BelAir on 13th December 2006. The evening brought together the private wealth management community from all over America and the super rich from the creative and business worlds; important philanthropists and press.

For entrepreneurs, celebrities, artists and even aristocrats, sometimes the financial world is difficult to understand. For those in the financial space, the creative world can also be a mystery. Citywealth hopes its events and publications enable greater dialogue between the two groups and those working within it. We allow those with money who wish to understand how to manage it or to have support with their lives or business, to grasp complex financial concepts in an easy way. It also allows those in the wealth community to meet peers in other countries to facilitate global private client business.

Citywealth is a UK based publishing and events company with global wealth management and private client contacts all over the world. It launched in October 2005 and publishes a weekly newsletter on topical issues for the super rich and its advisers. It also has two exclusive VIP wealth management events and top 100 peer recommended lists covering many countries. We hope you enjoyed the LA party and look forward to seeing you at a future event.
